IMPROVE RIVERS OR SUFFER SEVERE RETROGRESSION

Warning From Interstate Commerce Commissioner That Internal Waterways Must Take Care of Transportation in Future.

ABOUT RIVERS AND HARBORS

(Staff Correspondence.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—I attended the opening session of the national rivers and harbors congress and heard the secretary of state and other speakers who will note as being down for addresses. Mr. Roosevelt has not much speaking voice, and his delivery is much like Roosevelt's in its emphatic quality, but he knows how to talk directly to the point. From my observation of him on the speakers' stand and among the crowd I think he is a thorough man without any of the politician's savvy, nor was he speaking so favorably for waterways improvements for political effect.

River men are standing in little groups around the wharf lounging places in Paducah today as they have stood for so many years past, and while the subject of road projects around a variety of public and local issues, if one stays there a little while he will soon find that it comes back to the rivers and their improvements with the consequent good times that will follow. To those river men I can say unqualifiedly that dreams of river improvements are past and in Secretary Root's own words, "the bridge has now been reached." We could dismiss Mr. Root's speech as political gas; we could set down congressional and administrative promises of support as an opiate to soothe the unrest of river men; and there still would be left in the situation enough to back up the assertion that the time has come when dreams will be laid aside and actual realization is at hand.

Rivers on retrograde.
This assurance comes from the speech of Mr. Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the interstate commerce commission. Here is an overstrained man, who for years and at present has been struggling with the problem of fair and adequate transportation by rail, who says that river improve-

Prof. W. H. Sugg, principal of the High school, received word today of the serious injury of his brother-in-law, Mr. Hishop, in a runaway accident. He has a farm near Madisonville and was hurt out there. Mrs. Sugg is now in Madisonville, where she was called last week by the illness of her mother and sister, who are no better.

WILL BRING SUIT

Mr. H. F. Pryor, who lives on the Mayfield road just beyond Tennessee street, came to the city this morning to employ a lawyer to bring suit against the Illinois Central railroad for damages he received at the Tennessee street crossing one night last week, when the wheel he was riding was wrecked on the crossing, which he declared to be unsafe and dangerous.

Mr. Pryor claims that the flea at the crossing as exposed in such a manner that when he came to the crossing in the darkness, his wheel was wrecked and two of his ribs were broken. The city may also be made a party to the suit.

Cousins Marry.

Water Grimes and Mary Grimes secured a marriage license at the county clerk's office this morning. The couple are cousins and live in Louisville.

WORST MINE DISASTER IN THE HISTORY OF MINING WAS ONE AT FAIRMOUNT YESTERDAY

Men Trapped Behind Fallen Coal in Entries—Dead are Unrecognizable and Burned.

Fairmount, W. Va., Dec. 7.—At 10 o'clock today 125 dead bodies had been taken out of the mine. Rescuers in No. 6 say many more bodies are in sight. In mine No. 8 rescuers are just getting started on account of the gas.

Temporary hospitals with 20 physicians are attending exhausted rescuers. Thomas Cain, an inspector, was overcome and is in a serious condition. A special train of caskets arrived at noon. Two American women attempted suicide when told there is no hope for their husbands being found alive.

It is now said the death list will be over 500. Officials did not include

THOMPSON, WILSON AND CO. MAY GO INTO BANKRUPTCY

Petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed in Louisville by Attorney J. S. Ross, of the firm of Orice & Ross, against Thompson, Wilson & company, wholesale whisky dealers, 125 North Fourth street, one of the oldest concerns in western Kentucky. The ground is preference of creditors while insolvent. Liabilities of the concern are estimated at upward of $100,000, with assets, consisting of stock valued at $35,000, and accounts and notes, worth a great many thousands of dollars. Complaining creditors assert that several thousand dollars have been paid to creditors on accounts within four months, and if the concern is declared bankrupt these sums will go to swell the assets.

Orice & Ross represent the Melwood Distilling company, of Louisville, and the petitioners are Hume & Lancaster, Louisville, $240; Terre Haute Distilling company, Terre Haute, Ind., $2,500; Henry H. Shufeldt, Peoria, Ill., $600. Complaint is made that the following creditors were paid in full December 2, 1907: James Levy, Cincinnati, $345; Woolner & company, Peoria, Ill., $296.75.

The suit will be contested. Thompson, Wilson & company are practically all owned by John Rinkoff, who was secretary and treasurer when the late John Sinnott was head of the concern.

A story was circulated to do injury to one of Paducah's best banks, that Thompson, Wilson & company were indebted to the American-German National bank in various sums.

Mr. L. M. Rieke, president of the bank, said: "Thompson, Wilson & company have not done business with this bank for several months, and we hold only one note of that concern, for only $650. This note is secured by warehouse receipts for whisky in government warehouses. The bank also holds some notes and bills of Thompson, Wilson & company's customers—sold to us by them—which we regard as good, but for the payment of which the bank does not look to Thompson, Wilson & company. The payment of these notes and bills has been guaranteed to the bank, in writing, by eight of its directors."

W. J. BRYAN OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN IN ILL. YESTERDAY

Intimates That Sullivan Incident is Closed and Declares Flurry Result of Turning From Bimetallism—Makes Bid For State.

GUEST AT CHICAGO BANQUET

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 7.—William J. Bryan opened his Illinois campaign for the presidency on the Democratic ticket here last night in two speeches before mass meetings, and later at a banquet at which nearly seven hundred prominent northern Illinois politicians assembled. Bryan spoke on the vindication of the Democratic platform since 1896. The Republican party, said Bryan, has been steadily falling from popularity and today but one man can win the presidency.

He pointed out that the present financial stringency was the result of turning down Democracy's bimetallic issue and declared that the trusts, tariff and labor arbitration problems were being solved according to lines embraced in Democratic platforms.

Colonel James Hamilton Lewis also addressed the two mass meetings on lines similar to those of Bryan. In addition to these gentlemen speeches were delivered at the love feast by Lee O. Browne, of Ottawa; J. Stanley Browne, of Rockford; Samuel Alschuler, of Aurora, and former Mayor Dunne, of Chicago.

At Chicago.
William J. Bryan, who was yesterday the guest of local Democracy, made a speech at a luncheon given by the Iroquois club, the keynote of which was party harmony.

"Where an agreement has been reached among men as to what ought to be done, there should be a forgetfulness for the past," he said.

"Men should have forgetting machines so far as individuals are concerned. 'Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors' is a good doctrine to follow. Resentment and revenge are the most foolish of things."

Men who heard the words took them to mean that Bryan's differences with National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan were at an end and that there would be no anti-Bryan contest in Illinois. Sullivan having declared he will start no strife afresh. Bryan declared the Democratic party was more united today than it has been for years, while he asserted, the Republicans are divided.

TAFT SAILS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—Taft sailed from Hamburg: "Just sailing." He expects to arrive December 18.

OLLIE JAMES WILL VISIT DEPARTMENT

Mayor Yeiser is in receipt of a letter from Ollie James, who says he will pay a personal visit to the navy department and request that the gunboat Paducah be sent here to receive the silver service at an early date.

CULBERSON SUGGESTED

Washington, Dec. 7.—Senator Culbertson, of Texas, is being talked of in connection with the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee.

ADJUSTERS COMING

Adjusters are expected here Monday to settle the loss of the John G. Rehkopf buggy company on the stock of buggies burned in the warehouse at Eleventh street and Broadway a few nights ago. The most of the insurance on the burned building and contents was placed with the Wells and Hughes agencies.

LOST FIFTY BUNNIES

H. T. Wilkins, a huckster, of Folsomdale, reported to the police this morning that 50 rabbits had been stolen from his wagon while he was peddling produce on the north side this morning. Mr. Wilkins stopped at many grocery stores and left his wagon several minutes at a time and is not sure where they were stolen, as he did not miss them until he reached the market.

NIGHT RIDERS PUT TO TORCH PROPERTY VALUED $200,000 AT HOPKINSVILLE THIS A. M.

Willson's Stand

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 7. (Special.)—Governor-elect Willson expressed his determination this morning to take every means in his power, when he takes his seat, to enforce the law in the dark tobacco district. He said the raid on Hopkinsville was an outrage.

SHERIFF WITH POSSE

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 7. (2 p. m.)—A posse of 15, headed by Deputy Sheriff Cravens and Major Hassett, set out after the raiders and overtook them not far from town, and a running fight opened. No one was injured and the raiders, who were well mounted, having left their horses some distance out of town, escaped.

SEARCHLIGHT IS PUT TO NEW USE SCARING ROBBERS

James Tucker, Buster Brown and Mose Vaughan, three desperate looking negroes, were arrested this morning on a charge of attempting to hold up and rob Herbert Blackburn, colored, an employee of the towboat Harlan, at the foot of Clay street on Thursday night. The officers are also trying to secure evidence that will connect the trio with some of the many burglaries that have been pulled off recently.

Blackburn was paid $50 Thursday evening by the officers of the boat at the New Richmond House and it is alleged that Brown, Tucker and Vaughan saw him collect the money and follow him to the river and held him up, as he was preparing to get into a skiff to go to his boat.

The watchman on the boat heard the men scuffling with Blackburn, who resisted them, and turned the searchlight on them, which covered the robbers and they ran. The matter was reported to the police and it was found that Tucker and Vaughan were quartered on a deserted barge near the J. C. Incline. When arrested they said Brown had left town, but he was seen on the streets this morning and arrested.

The trio were presented in police court this morning and the charge against them continued until Monday. All three were sent to the county jail.

LIVELY CONTEST IS PROMISED FOR GEORGE LEHNHARD

Indications are that a lively fight will be made in the general council over the office of license inspector. The incumbent, George Lehnhard, who has made a most excellent official, being opposed by Bob Hicks. Lehnhard has made some enemies in the performance of his duties, and this opposition has been taken advantage of to unite influence against him, but he seems to have the advantage in the race.

FARRELL'S BODY COMING

Friends here have not been able to get any definite information as to how George Farrell, the ship caulker, who was found dead in a skiff near Belmont, Mo., came to his death, though the report that he was murdered seems to be credited. It is said there was a large hole in the forehead of the dead man, which appeared to have been made by a blow from an oar. It is believed that he started down the river in a skiff with some companion and that they quarreled and Farrell was killed. A message was received here last night that the body had been buried at Columbus, Ky., but would be exhumed and sent here. Farrell is entitled to a funeral benefit of $100 from the local ship caulkers' union.

JAPAN DEMANDS NEW IMMIGRATION TREATY WITH U. S.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Coincident with Viscount Aoki's summons to Tokyo, comes the information today indicating that Japan insists upon coming to a definite understanding on the immigration question and strongly urges an entirely new immigration treaty with the United States as the sole remedy.

Thomas J. O'Brien, American ambassador to Japan, today informed the state department that officials should begin studying conditions and the Japanese demands, with the view of framing some new agreement. This indicates that Japan's efforts to check immigration is a failure; that Japan does not wish to be humiliated by having different phases of the present agreement threatened in congress, and that the Tokyo government insists upon some new agreement, which will be satisfactory to both nations. Viscount Aoki's return is closely connected with the solution of these questions.

GOLDEN ON STAND

Georgetown, Ky., Dec. 7.—Wharton Golden, on the stand, told of alleged conversations with Powers, Finley and John L. Powers, regarding plans of killing Goebel, and also plans to bring mountain men to Frankfort. He said both Powers and Taylor said Goebel will have to be killed.

CHANGE B'WAY SCHEDULE

Guthrie avenue cars may run down town instead of transferring at Seventeenth street and Broadway. The residents of Guthrie avenue and vicinity have asked the Paducah Traction company to run the Guthrie avenue cars all the way down town. Mr. Heecker said he would try to do this, but the cars would run every 20 minutes instead of every ten as they now do, and that there will be no Broadway short line, for the Guthrie avenue cars will cover the same track. If this is done the change will be made next week.

FOUR HOUSES BURNED

Two double tenement houses and two "gun barrel" houses on Terrell street between Seventh and Eighth streets, and the property of Dal Powell, the commission merchant, burned this afternoon at a loss of about $1,500 with $700 insurance. The houses were occupied by Chaney Morrow, Belle Mack and Nan Scott, all colored. The fire started in the house occupied by Nan Scott and is supposed to have been caused by a defective flue. The alarm was answered by the Nos. 3 and 4 fire companies, but the flames had gained too much headway. Other buildings were saved.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 7. (Special.)—Five hundred masked and heavily armed men, walked into Hopkinsville this morning at 2 o'clock, took possession of the police and fire stations and the telephone and telegraph offices, destroyed the independent warehouses of W. A. Tandy and Tandy & Fairleigh, and the association warehouse of R. W. Woodridge, and shot into the Commercial Bank and Trust company, the Planters Bank and Trust company and the Bank of Hopkinsville, entailing a loss of $200,000. They also severely whipped Mr. Mitchell, an independent tobacco buyer, whom they dragged from his bed, and shot an L. & N. brakeman, named Delph, in the back.

The men arrived quietly. They swarmed to the telephone and telegraph offices and the police and fire stations, and guards were placed in every street, who fired at every head poked out of a window to learn the cause of the commotion. They first fired the W. A. Tandy warehouse, and Woodridge's warehouse caught from that. They then proceeded to Tandy & Fairleigh's warehouse in the residence section and set that on fire.

Having insured the success of their work of destruction, the mob went to the home of Mr. Mitchell, an independent buyer, and dragged him from his bed and took him to the most prominent corner of the city, where they beat and kicked him almost into insensibility, and left him for dead. He will recover.

After they had assured themselves that the warehouses were doomed, the guards told the firemen they could come forth, and the whole mob started away from town.

The mob came from the direction of Trigg county, and when it left, Hopkinsville people to the number of 15 followed them as far as Gracey, Trigg county. The mob left its horses in the country and walked in along the Illinois Central railroad. The telephones were put out of commission so that the militia could not be summoned.

There was no tobacco in Woodridge's, the association warehouse, as no new association tobacco has been received and the old has been sold. The building caught from Tandy's.

The tobacco burned was insured for $50,000.

The brakeman, Delph, was shot, when a switch engine was backed down to the warehouse to save some tobacco, and the night riders ordered the crew to desist.

The Imperial and American Snuff company warehouses were not molested. It is believed, because they were too well protected. A rumor of a prospective visit from night riders of Trigg and Caldwell counties reached Hopkinsville several days ago, but it was thought the independent men were safe. The trust and Imperial, however, took precaution and were saved.

These two concerns concentrated here after the Princeton trouble last year, thinking to be immune. It may

Old Coughs

Keep in close touch with your family doctor. No medicine was ever made that could take his place. Trust him at all times.

Old coughs, desperate coughs, rasping coughs, extremely perilous coughs, coughs that shake the whole body. It takes a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine, to master such coughs. A great many people rely on Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"As Told in the Hills."
The original east which is much larger and better than that of the average melodrama will be seen in the new play, "As Told in the Hills," at the Kentucky tonight.

"A Texas Steer."

"A Texas Steer," a Hoyt comedy, is the attraction at the Kentucky. It is said to be Hoyt's funniest and best work, as it deals with politics it is always effective. The story, briefly told is this: Maverick Brander, a Texas cattle king, is elected to congress and though he has no great desire to go to Washington, his constituents, in their own peculiar style, insist upon him serving his country at the capital. He accordingly goes to Washington, accompanied by his wife and daughter Bossy, a naturally bright girl, though somewhat unsophisticated. They all get into the political and social swim of the capital. While in congress Brander's constituents have all the confidence in the world in him; yet they are not above appointing a committee, consisting of Messrs. Yell, Bragg and Blaw, to keep their eye on the congressional representative at the seat of government. These glorious products of Texas form a unique trio.

S.S.S. FORTY YEARS SUCCESSFUL SERVICE

When a medicine has stood the test for a period of more than two generations and is then more popular than ever, there can be no doubt of its merit. This is the record of S. S. S. Its period of existence is marked by a long line of cures of blood and skin diseases of every character, and its value in the treatment of such troubles has become so well known that it is today the most extensively used blood medicine on the market. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases and all other troubles due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, S. S. S. has no equal. It counteracts and drives out the poisons, humors and germs, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the disease permanently and restores strong, robust health. More Gravel Needed on Broadway Between Seventeenth and Nineteenth.

The inspection of the recently improved streets yesterday by President Withelm, of the board of public works, and City Engineer Washington resulted in finding the work on Fifteenth street between Broadway and Kentucky avenue acceptable, as was Boyd street from Sixth street to Seventh street. But the officials refused to accept the work on Broadway between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets and Finley street from Seventh street to Eighth street, until more gravel was added to the improvement. The contractor will make the addition today.

STEAMBOAT MEN

VETERANS OF GREAT INLAND WATERWAY DIED AT ST. LOUIS.

Romantic Careers of Pair Whose Records Antedate the Civil War Period.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 7.—The deaths of Erasmus Allison, Tuesday, and of Job V. Starr here today, remove two of the oldest and best known Mississippi river steamboatmen, both of whom were born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, and were lifelong friends. Both were well known in Memphis, St. Louis and New Orleans.

Mr. Allison, known to his friends as "Boss" Allison, was in his 90th year. He came to St. Louis in 1811 and shortly afterward built a home at 1531 Carr street, where he continued to live until his death. In connection with his brother, the late Joel Allison, he built the steamer Ford Kennett about the time the civil war began. The boat was captured by the Confederates in the lower Mississippi.

One of his intimate friends, Major William K. Patrick, says Mr. Allison was afraid of street cars and automobiles and had not been down town.

nor had he seen the Mississippi during the last ten years, preferring to remain at his home. The funeral took place this afternoon from the residence.

The funeral of Mr. Starr, known to his friends as "Sanky" Starr, also took place this afternoon from the Soldiers' Home, Indianville, Ill., where he died.

Mr. Starr came to St. Louis from Brownsville, Washington county, Pa., in the early forties and was 82 years of age. When the civil war began he was appointed chief engineer on the federal gunboat Henton, which was assigned to Admiral Foote's fleet. He remained in that position until two years after the war closed and until the government sale of the old gunboats, which took place at Hannan City, Ill.

Mr. Starr remained as a Mississippi steamboat engineer until his health gave way about ten years ago. Maj. Patrick also was an intimate friend of Mr. Starr.

WINDOW LAND.

I love to go in Window Land, along the city street,
Where shoppers throng the pavements and the lights are fairly sweet;
I love to press my nose against the glass and figure out,
Whatever all the novel things displayed there are about.
In Window Land the beautiful, in Window Land today,
There is a nameless charm to make my heart both young and gay;
I love to go in Window Land in summer, spring or fall,
But Window Land in holidays is fairer than all;
For every little window looks its best along the street,
Dressed in the very elements that charm with splendor sweet.
Ah, such fine fun the looking, and such dear grace the dream,
Where beauty in the windows of the city leads its gleam!
In Window Land at Christmas—ah, let me idly stray,
Nor shall another heart there found be younger or more gay.
My nose against the crystal, my eyes in wonder wide,
My lips with wishes laden for the brave, bright things inside—
Dear fairy world of cities, dear streets with charm so grand,
I love to stray day after day, in lovely Window Land!

The Christmas Shopping.

Already December is assuming a very Christmassy aspect, really alarming in one so young as this week-old month; but when one pauses to count the days ahead they are alarmingly few, too, for even a Christmas rush to be condensed, hotted-down, and merged into. The shops are putting on their Christmas trips and furbelows but the weather is still so delightful that not many of us have gotten beyond the "window wishing" as yet. It will take December frowns and not smiles to drive us indoors. This is the time, if one is ever really going to be the wise, provident and thoughtful woman, to begin the Christmas shopping. It may give you a "the good and you'll be longsome" sort of feeling that is as tery as the Christmas fire, but you will avoid all the nerves and boxes that lurk, they say, in the "Christmas rush." What is so dear, so delightful, though? To give it up would be like giving up Santa Claus and fairies and all sorts of dear impracticable things for staid prosy, matter-of-fact, common-sense article overhauls. But woman is being educated by the press daily in the beauty and duty of "early Christmas shopping," and she means to do it. If not this year, then maybe next year, in the meantime she is hoping that her neighbor may take heed unto her shopping so that she need not feel impelled to do so. And in the back of her head woman is wondering, too, with her delightfully Hoggish reasoning, if the grim man who writes all that editorial stuff about doing "Christmas shopping early," is not really going to wait until Christmas eve himself to do every blessed bit of his. And a woman's intuition, you know, make some famous home-runs.

A reception was given Thursday evening at the Standard club by the Sisterhood of Temple Israel in honor of Dr. H. G. Enelow, of Louisville, a former rabbi of Temple Israel. The club rooms were effectively decorated with American beauty roses and chrysanthemums and the scene was a brilliant one. An informal musical program was rendered under the direction of Miss Mayme Dryfuss. Dr. Enelow made a short address on "The Aims and Object of the Organization Known as the Sisterhood." Delightful ices, cakes and fruit punch were served during the evening.

Cottillon Club.

The Cottillon club gave the first of its series of dances for the winter on Thursday night at the Knights of Columbus hall in the Campbell building. It was an especially delightful affair. The German was led by Mr. Louis Riecke, Jr., and Mr. Edwin J. Paxton. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Possick, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. John S. Bleeker, Misses Frances Wallace, Ethel Brooks, Harriet Hills, Philippa Nella Hatfield, Edith Langstaff, Lilje May Winstead, Marjorie Scott, Wilma Frost, of Mayfield, Willie Blanche Asher of Atlanta, Ga., Irene Faris, of Hickman, Ky., Messrs. Calhoun Riecke, Walter Iverson, Douglas Ragby, Louis Riecke, Jr., Fred Wadw, David Koger, Charlie Riecke, Warren Sights, Arthur Marlin, Charlie Allcott, Joe Exall, Frank Davis, Edwin J. Paxton, and Dr. J. B. Howell.

D. A. R. Chapter.

The Paducah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Hubbard S. Wells at the Empire flats on Broadway. It was the regular meeting for December and the election of officers for 1918 was the first order of business. Mrs. Edith G. Boone was re-elected regent; Mrs. Charles K. Wheeler, vice regent; Miss Emily Morrow, secretary, and Mrs. Leslie Soule, registrar. There was a change in the personnel of the other officers, some having served the allotted time. Mrs. C. H. Chamblin was elected treasurer; Mrs. L. O. Walker, historian; Mrs. H. S. Wells, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. S. B. Moore, chaplain. Mrs. Boone was complimented by the chapter on the fidelity and success of her year as regent. The names of Mrs. George Flournoy, of Paducah, and of Mrs. Gus Thomas, of Mayfield, were added to the chapter. Mrs. Thomas is a member of the John Marshall chapter in Louisville, and her membership transferred here. Mrs. Roy McKinney presented greetings from Miss Desha, a national officer of the D. A. R., who said she was watching the Paducah chapter with the greatest interest. It was decided to offer a prize to the school in Rowlandtown, of which the chapter has undertaken the care, to the pupil passing the best examination at the end of this term, in history from the time of the discovery of America. Mrs. Boone, Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. George Niehaus will visit this school next Friday afternoon by invitation and a literary program will be given. The chapter voted thanks to the city and county for the drink-

Sans Souci Club. Mrs. Allen Ashcraft entertained the Sans Souci club very delightfully on Thursday afternoon at her home, 1919 Broadway. The club prize was taken by Miss Mildred Terrell. The lone hand prize went to Miss Clara Park. It was a club affair of three tables, with Miss Mary Waller, of Morganfield, Ky., as the out-of-town guest. An attractive course-luncheon followed the game. Mrs. Henry Hughes, Mrs. Vernon Blythe and Miss Carlisle Sowell were incheon guests.

lag fountains, recently placed at convenient points for use.

The members responded to roll call with appropriate quotations. Mrs. James Baldwin gave a delightful paper on "The Best Christmas During the Revolution." Attractive musical selections were given by Mrs. Lela Wade Lewis, Mrs. George B. Hart and Miss Dryfuss. Mrs. S. B. Moore gave an interesting account of Miss Lizzie Osborne, of Northbury, Conn., a "real daughter" of the revolution, whose 100th birthday was recently celebrated at her home. She is in possession of all her faculties still. Her picture was exhibited. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The chapter closes this month one of its most successful years along all lines, and in all it has undertaken. Mrs. Boone, the regent, has unusual executive ability and has given herself without stint to the work, and many good things have been planned and accomplished by the enthusiastic chapter under her lead. The chain of public drinking fountains is one of the excellent features. The work for 1918 will be the completion of the handsome D. A. R. memorial fountain at the custom house corner, which was successfully projected the past year. It will be an ornament to the city.

Reception For Bride and Bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas S. Mitchell entertained on Thursday evening at their home on Madison street, with a pretty reception in honor of their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Silas E. Mitchell, who returned Thursday from their bridal trip to Chicago and Milwaukee. The house was effectively decorated with sulfox, ferns, palms and white and pink carnations. The pink and white scheme was prettily carried out in the ices, cakes and mint. Those who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell in receiving, besides the bride and bridegroom were: Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baker, Mrs. Eva Washburn, Mrs. Brucie Brantly, Misses Lucile Blackard, Katie Bauer, Ethel Mitchell, Edith Mitchell, Mable Mitchell, May Mitchell.

Matinee Musical Club.

The Matinee Musical club met on Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Woman's club house. The program was an attractive one arranged by Mrs. William C. Clark. The subject was "Dance Music," and the waltz, minuet, mazurka, gavotte and ballet were considered. Mrs. Victor Voris presented an admirable paper on "Dance Music," discussing the various forms. Miss Luella Reed gave a piano solo, "Novellette" from Schuman. The "Kiss Song," from Strauss, was sung by Mrs. James Wellie. Mrs. George B. Hart played two piano numbers, a Minuet from Faderewski, and a waltz by Mockowski. Miss Mable Dryfuss sang "Snow," by Parker, and Miss Lucile Blackard played "Silver Stars," by Carl Böhm. The waltz song "Carmena" by H. Lane Wilson, was given by Miss Caroline Ham.

"Hard Times" Social Evening.

An unique entertainment of the week was a "hard times" surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.

D. Farrington, 1103 Madison street, on Tuesday evening. It was a merry affair. Mrs. S. A. Barker was given the prize for the most "poverty stricken" costume worn by the ladies. Mr. Philip Rogers carried off the men's honors. A delightful "hard times" luncheon was served during the evening. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Finney, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. P. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Hendrix, of Toledo, O., Mrs. Hazlebar, Mrs. S. A. Barker, Misses Josephine Hazlebar.

COUNTRY FAIR REVIVINGS.
Does anti-gambling legislation
mean the revival of the old-fashioned county fair?

The Memphis Jockey club, instead of trying to revive racing with pool selling features, will hold a tri-state fair, for Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi, with racing as the principal feature; but with enough fat swine, big pumpkins, crazy quilts and prize jellies, to interest and entertain the rural population of the Delta country.

Even yet in some small communities the county fair in its pristine charms survives the sophisticating influences of rural free deliveries, traction lines, and exposition excursions; and many elty people, who have not forgotten what once was,
make annual pilgrimages to the bucolic shrine of a neighboring county seat town, to revel in the dusty atmosphere, the strange medley of sounds from wood and field, and the predominance of family groups.

The breed of horses will not be lessened, we assume, by interesting people who raise and drive them,
rather than people who bet on them,
and the elimination of the blackboard and the shortsake, who presides over it, will not materially weaken collections the following week.

We anticipate quite an exodus of witnesses for the commonwealth, if Attorney General-elect Breathitt determines to try everybody, who has confessed to complicity in a plot to assassinate Goebel, or who has been indicted.

Dr. Landone, of Los Angeles, sticks to his cactus diet.

DISCOURAGING HOMICIDE.
Sen. J. Wheeler Campbell's objection to the idea of executing all condemned prisoners by electrocution in the Frankfort penitentiary, we confer, carries some weight, and reflects an adherence to the theory of criminal law, which laymen sometimes fail to consider, for lack of knowledge. The theory of our criminal code is, that the penalty inflicted for the perpetration of crime is not so much punishment to the guilty person as a deterrent on others in the community inclined to commit the same offense. It is well known that a successful burglary includes similar attempts along the same line. So on the same principle, the law would discourage imitation
by making an example of the guilty
one.

Taking this view of it, Senator
Campbell says in effect that execution of a person guilty of a heinous crime, is for the purpose of discouraging imitation by making an example of the condemned man, and he believes that example should be held up to the people of the community in whose midst the offense was committed, and whose criminally inclined population would naturally be the most likely to be incited to imitation

by the original offense. The logical extreme of his course of reasoning,
of course, is that the greater the publicity given the hanging, the greater and more beneficial will be the effect on the community.

Almost diametrically opposed to this is the more esthetic theory of a modern school of sociologists and reformers, that the effect of capital punishment is degrading and brutal-izing to the degree that it is given publicly, and the more brutal the method of execution the more dreadful the effect on the minds of those, who witness it. The ultimate logic of this position is, that capital punishment in itself is wrong; but if it is necessary, the speediest and least painful method should be employed, and the least possible publicity given to the execution.

They contend that the effect of a public execution on the public mind
is quite as bad as the crime itself;
that the sight and constant recurrence of the thought of hanging people begets a disregard for human life. They point to the fact that most homicides are committed in auger and not for the purpose of gain, and are directly attributable to the cheapness in which human life is held.

Taking that view of it, public execution can not but aggravate a condition that is responsible for the crime, instead of discouraging imitation. They cite the fact that in those states in which the execution is performed privately in the penitentiary, crimes of homicide are relatively rare.

If this latter contention is correct,
then the certainty of conviction and prompt execution of the law would be the remedy most efficacious, and in this regard, no one can doubt that there is room for reform. Particularly in cases of homicide, in which there are no sordid, revolting details, but only the element of passion, juries are swayed by sympathy too much. We find men going acquit-or, being convicted, dragging their jaws interminably through the courts, and afterwards being pardon-ed. That cheapens human life. If a man knew he was going to secure a speedy and just trial, and that an inexorable doom awaited him, if he should commit a crime, his blood would often be cooled, where now its heat serves as a mitigation of his offense, and there would be fewer widows weeping on the streets.

The accuracy of this reasoning is demonstrated in the case of anarchists. Everyone of them executed for an offense becomes a martyr in the eyes of his fellows, and his execution
adds fuel to the flames of their hate.
Czolgosz, the assassin of McKinley, was put away in the silence of a prison house. The very mystery and dispatch of his taking off had a better effect on the community than a public execution would.

Perhaps the best discourager of homicide is an improvement of public morals, a keener sense of responsibility to a power higher than human courts, and the teachings of a gentler "code."

Men are not all angels—yet. Perhaps, it would be demoralizing to do away with the hideous capital punishment; but the certainty, rather than the severity of penalty, we believe, is the surest discourager.

FEAR OF NEPOTISM.

Louisville Post Says Causes Changes
in Plans of Officials.

The Louisville Evening Post figures appointments out this way:

With the near approach of the date of the inauguration of Gov.-elect Willson and the presence in the city almost daily of politicians from over the state, gossip in connection with appointments past and to come, under the new administration, goes merrily on.

The following appointments, in addition to those already announced,
are said to be certain:

Thomas B. McGregor, of Benton,
Marshall county, assistant attorney general under Judge James Breath-itt.

Jackson Morris, of McKee, Jackson county, assistant secretary of state under Dr. Ben L. Bruner.

W. E. James, of Leitchfield, chief clerk under Capt. Edwin Farley, state treasurer-elect.

W. L. Hazell, of Louisville, steward at Lakeland asylum.

Edward Cook, of Hopkinsville, corporation clerk under secretary of state-elect.

The appointment of H. E. James
as chief deputy treasurer by Capt.
Farley was not unexpected. It is understood that the position was first tendered to Mr. James, but he then refused to accept it. That Mr. James would have been appointed chief deputy auditor of state is considered a certainty were it not for the fact that he bears the same name as the auditor-elect, and while the two are not related in any way, it was feared that his appointment would cause a confusion of names, and create the impression that nepotism was being practiced. H. P. Nunn, of Paducah, was offered the position of assistant treasurer, but declined it, as he said, because of his relationship to Capt. Farley.

THIEF STEALS TWO BAGS
OF CORN AND HALE OF HAY

G. L. Thomas, of North Seventh street, reported this morning that some one during the night had stolen two hales of hay and two sacks of corn from the stable loft in the rear of his place. There is no clue to the identity of the thief taking the feed.

CHAPTER XXI.

At the bidding of the Unknown.
The windows of Borton's shone cheerfully, although it was past midnight. At our cautious approach a signal was given and with the answering word a man appeared from the obscurity.
"All safe?" I inquired.
"It's all right," said Barkhouse.
"There's a dozen men in the room,
and I'm not sure there ain't some of the hounds amongst them. But you're to go in the side door, and right upstairs."

"Two of you may keep at the foot of the stairs, just inside the door," I said. "You may stand watch outside, Barkhouse."

There was sound of rude song, and the clink of glass and bottle in the bar and dining room as I passed through the side hall. But the door was closed, and I saw nothing of the late revelers. In the upper hallway Mother Borton stood by an open door, silhouetted dark and threatening against the dim flickerings that came from the candle in the room behind her.

I had but opened my mouth to give her word of greeting when she raised a warning claw, and then seizing me drew me swiftly into the room and closed and locked the door.

"How air ye, dearie?" she said, surveying me with some apparent pride.
"You're safe and whole, ain't ye?"

"I am safe," I said, "though I had a close shave in Chinatown."

"I heard of it," said Mother Borton sourly. "I reckon it ain't much good to sit up nights to tell you how to take care of yourself. It's a wonder you ever grew up. Your mammy must
'a' been mighty keener about herdin'
ye under cover whenever it rained."

"I was a little to blame," I admitted,
"but your warning was not thrown away. I thought I was well-guarded."

Mother Borton sniffed contemptuously.

"I s'pose you come down here
alone?"

"No." And I explained the disposition of my forces.

"That's not so bad," she said. "They could git up here soon enough, I reckon, if there was a row. But I guess you didn't think I sent for ye jest to tell ye you was a fool in Chinatown."

I admitted that I should have expected to wait till morning for such a piece of information.

"Well," said Mother Borton, "that ain't it. Something's up."

"And what might it be?" I inquired.

"The moon?"

Mother Borton did not take that flippancy kindly. Her face grew darker and more evil as it was framed in the dancing shadows behind her.

"You can git a knife in ye as easy
as winking if I'll keep my mouth shut," she cried spitefully.

"Yes," said I repentantly, putting my hand upon her arm. "But you are my very good friend, and will tell me what I ought to know."

The creature's face lighted at my tone and action, and her eyes melted
with a new feeling.

"That I will," she said; "that I will,
as if you were my own boy."

She seized my hand and held it as she spoke and looked intently on my face.

"I was a-listening to 'em," she continued in a low, earnest tone, glancaround fearfully as if she had the thought that some one else might be listening in turn. "I was a-listening,

an' I heard what they says."

"Who said?" I inquired.

"The ones you knows on," she returned mysteriously.

"What ones?" I persisted, though I supposed she meant to indicate some of my energetic enemies.

Mother Borton paid no attention to my question, and continued:

"I knowed they was a-talking about you, an' they says they could cut your liver out if they found ye there."

"And where is there?" I asked with growing interest.

"That's what I was listening to find out," said Mother Borton. "I couldn't hear much of what they says, but I hears enough to git an idea."

She bent forward and hissed rather than whispered:

"They've found out where the boy is!"

"Are you certain?" I asked in sudden alarm.

"Pretty sure," she said, "pretty sure.
Now you won't go near the place, will ye, dearie?" she continued anxiously.

"You forget that I haven't the first idea where the boy is hidden," I returned.

"Oh, Lord, yes! I reckon my mind's going," grunted Mother Borton. "But I'm afraid of their knives for ye."

"I wish I could give warning," said
I, much disturbed by the information.

"The protector of the boy ought to know about this. I'm afraid I have done wrong."

Mother Borton looked at me fixedly:

"Don't you worry, my dear. She'll know about it all right."

Again the feeling stole over me that this woman knew more than she told.

But I knew that it was useless to question her directly.

"I suspect that she knows already.
I got a note to-night," said I, drawing from my pocket the envelope I had received from the Unknown.

Mother Borton seized it, looked for a moment at the firm, delicate hand of the address and drew out the sheet
that it inclosed.

"Read it, dearie," she said, handing it back after a scrutiny. "I can't tell anything but big print."

I suspected that Mother Borton was trying to deceive me, but I repeated
the words of the note:

"Send six men to 8 o'clock boat. Come with one in hack to courtyard of the Palace Hotel at 7:40."

Mother Borton's face changed not a whit at the reading, but at the end
she nodded.

"She knows," she said.

"What does it mean?" I asked.

"What is to happen?"

"Don't go, dearie—you won't go,
will you?"

The Chattanooga Times of Friday
says: "The steamer Chattanooga
due here yesterday morning from Paducah, Ky., will not arrive until some time today on account of having to wait nearly 24 hours at Florence, Ala., for a supply of coal. There was a misunderstanding concerning the amount of coal which the Chattanooga was to receive, and hence the delay. The arrival of the Chattanooga will mark the opening of the season's trade between Chattanooga and Paducah. There is now about five feet of water on the heel gauge, and it is not expected that this will be materially decreased until next summer. The Chattanooga is well prepared to handle a big business

NIGHT RIDERS PUT TO TORCH

Below that they will move to Paducah, where absolute safety is assured. There is great indignation over the outrage in Hopkinsville, and there is a inclination to deal severely with the guilty parties if they are captured. It is believed that not a single resident of Christian county is involved, and the fact that men came from other counties to perpetrate such a dastardly crime in this respectable community, makes the citizens' blood tingle with indignation.

Paducahans Saw Trouble.
Two prominent Paducahans were at the Hotel Latham in Hopkinsville last night and their description of the visit of the night riders carry one back to the days of the old Ku Klux.

"It was just about 1:30 last night when we were awakened by what seemed the fusillade of an army," said one of the men today, "and we immediately sprang from our beds to see what occasioned it. A great burst of flames lit up the sky and it seemed the whole town was ablaze, and volley after volley of shots rent the air. Instinctively we knew the 'night riders' were paying their promised visit to Hopkinsville, and fears for our own safety were allayed. We were afraid to venture out, of course, for every street corner was guarded by masked men, and one took his life in his hands if any effort was made to get out on the streets. There were fully 500 men in the mob. They wore long, black robes, white masks and the whole was topped with a white cowl and I would have been reminded of some comic opera if I had not realized that desperate work was going on around us.

"The fire departments made an effort to get to the fires, but the mob held them in the stations; the ticket offices of the railroads were riddled with bullets and shots were fired into the jail and court house. There were no attacks on private residences, the object of the visitors being, seemingly, only to fire the warehouses, and to intimidate the authorities. I left Hopkinsville this morning before 5 o'clock, so I did not see any Hopkinsville people, but I know the feeling is intense, and a demand for punishment of the outlaws will be strong and vigorous."

How It Was Received.
First news of the visit of the night riders to Hopkinsville last night was received in Paducah early this morning through bulletins of The Sun, and occasioned great excitement, as the tobacco and other business interests of the two towns are closely allied. The first information was that the banks were all fired and destroyed, that every "trust" warehouse was burned, but later information corrected this.

The news did not come as a surprise, for men well posted on the history of the outrages knew that Hopkinsville would be the scene of the next outbreak. The first of the series of night visits originated in Trigg and Caldwell counties last year, and the climax came when the two big trust houses at Princeton were destroyed. In rebuilding, the two companies, the Imperial and American Snuff, sought to concentrate their houses and selected Hopkinsville as a well located and safe center. The buildings they erected were planned to resist just such attacks as that of last night and the fact that the mob did not get into them is evidence that they were well built.

"There is no danger or prospect of any such occurrence as that in Paducah," said Mr. William Bornemann, a reporter for The Sun today. "We have not that vicious, lawless element which is responsible for these outrages anywhere in our vicinity, and then, too, we are too well protected, and our city authorities would not countenance such acts. Beckham is in a great measure responsible for a continuation of this outrageous conduct, and as soon as Willson goes into office we expect to see one of his first acts a measure to put down such outlaws."

"I was at Princeton when the visits and destructive work of the night riders was being investigated by Mott Ayers," said a prominent tobacco man today, "and I must say that he and Beckham, by their timidity, lack of backbone and whitewashing of the acts of these night riders are more responsible than any one else for a continuation of their outrageous work. Fully 90 per cent of the members of the farmers' association disapprove of the acts of the lawless element, and this was as a last effort to do something to hold these men with them. Now it was just in the closing days of Beckham's administration—an administration held friendly to their evil work—that the Hopkinsville visit was perpetrated."

"It is time for the law-abiding people of Kentucky to rise and demand that every man in any way responsible for these acts of lawlessness be fittingly punished. If our judges have not the nerve to visit the right punishment on them, let us take the cases into courts which can not be intimidated."

FARMERS ASK GOVERNMENT AID

Union Has Plan for Federal Assistance in Moving Crops.

Manitou, Okla., Dec. 7.—At a meeting today of the Farmers' Union at Manitou resolutions urging government aid in the present financial crisis for the movement of crops were passed. Other unions are asked to concur and send delegations to Washington petitioning for a circulating medium to enable the unemployed warehouses to hold cotton for the best price and offering to place the cotton crop under government supervision, issuing to the farmer as much as $35 a bale and placing enough interest on the money to pay for handling the crop.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 7.—That Dr. John H. Kellogg, the Adventist physician and sanitarium creator, is a devil, that Battle Creek is soon to be destroyed for its wickedness, and that the Adventists must sell their homes and leave the city at once are new messages from Mrs. Ellen G. White, head of the church. These, it is said, were "inspired" at her California home.

It was intended to maintain secrecy concerning the "messages," but when Elder Malcomb Campbell read them at a meeting in layman Joseph Parrott's home the walls had ears.

Some Adventists openly say they believe Mrs. White knows nothing of the messages, hinting that her name has been forged by church leaders to aid their cause in expelling so-called "apostates."

PETER ARLUND

INDICTED FOR OBTAINING MONEY BY FALSE PRETENSES.

Former Promoter Is Not Yet Out of Troubles Over Louisville Check.

The grand jury yesterday brought in an indictment against Peter Arlund, the Louisville promoter, charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses by giving a check on a Louisville bank, when he had no money in the institution. The indictment is the outcome of a prosecution instituted in the police court two weeks ago, where two charges were pending against Arlund, one for cashing a worthless check and another for giving a draft on himself in payment for a suit of clothes. He was dismissed on the latter charge but waived examination on the first and was released on his own recognizance.

Alex Wade, colored, who killed his sweetheart, Gertrude Pendleton, was indicted for willful murder. The trial of the case will be called Monday and it is expected that both sides will be ready for trial.

IMPROVE RIVERS

ments must come and come immediately if we are to prevent sharp retrograde movement in American business life. He cares nothing directly for the prosperity of river men over the prosperity of railroad men, but the situation now exists that the railroads are incapable of handling the business offered to them. It is not a question of more cars, more engines or more right of way, with the railroads, but of terminal facilities. As an illustration he states that to build another line from Chicago to New York would require an expenditure of money in New York alone for terminal facilities that without any other construction would place a capitalization of $150,000 a mile on the road; or, in other words, terminal facilities for the new road would cost $150,000,000 in New York, to say nothing of the cost in Chicago and the other cities along the proposed route. He said this project was abandoned after its fact became apparent, but though a new road was not built, the interest in freight to be handled did not stop. On the other hand it is necessary to a liberal mathematical estimate in a way that will outstrip any possible railroad construction in the next seven years.

Railroad men now realize the situation and their opposition to river improvements already has ceased. If American farmers and manufacturers and mines cannot get their products marketed through in adequate all-river facilities, there is but one way open for use, and that is our magnificent natural waterways system. I notice in The Sun that Speaker Cannon is reported to be different on the subject of waterway improvements. I do not believe this is possible, but I do believe that Speaker Cannon with the utmost good sense will watch narrowly any appropriations to that end.

The American people must not repeat the mistakes that attended the outbreak of railroad construction, quarter of a century ago. At the very start great care should be taken to spend money judiciously so that there won't be any reform movements in river circles as we have seen in the last few years in railroad circles. We stand now on the verge of a necessity for river improvements, which when generally understood will result in a frenzy to realize, just as the people went wild over railroad extension a while back, and congress will not be long in catching the spirit. We should be thankful that there is a spirit to hold this enthusiasm in line and direct it into correct channels, for while river improvements anywhere will sooner or later be valuable, it will be many years before the first district congressman could ask for an appropriation for inland creek. And gravel pits around Paducah must remain undeveloped a long time before an appropriation to turn them into an inland system of lakes should be demanded.

The President.

Significantly for river improvements, President Roosevelt for the first time in any annual message ever sent to congress, recommends an appropriation for the improvement of inland waterways. It is not unlikely that each great political party next year will have planks in their platforms advocating such improvements, and it is doubtful if another session of congress ever passes without appropriations to that end. National bond issues similar to the Panama financing are now advocated by some senators and endorsed by the river congress, to push the work. In any event the time for action is at hand, and the watchdog of the treasury will wink when appropriations for river and harbor improvements are asked. If something is taken out while their eyes are closed, they may grow some but there won't be any biting.

WILL SCOTT.

Officers of Congress.
Washington, Dec. 7.—The rivers and harbors congress today elected officers as follows: President, Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana; secretary-treasurer, J. T. Ellison, of Cincinnati.

The board of directors include Governor Johnson, of Minnesota; Thomas M. Wilkinson, of Burlington, Iowa; James H. Davidson, of Oshkosh, Wis.; Lawrence M. Jones, of Kansas City, Mo.; George C. Call, of Sioux City, Iowa.

CITY FARM

YIELDS CROPS ENOUGH TO RUN ONE DEPARTMENT.

Fire Chief Wood Succeeds in His Agricultural Efforts and Is Pleased.

Chief Wood, of the fire department, has also earned the title of Farmer Wood, as he has been successful in conducting a farm for the city, where nearly enough feed to run one of the stables all year is raised. The city owns a farm, on which the post house is located, and for several years it has been rented out with little gain to the city. Last year the chief conceived the idea that it would pay the city to have it farmed, and he was given a chance to demonstrate the feasibility of his plan by the fire and police commissioners. A man was employed to till the ground for $240 a year. Fair success was made the first year but this year 1,000 bushels of corn have been gathered, while a large plot has been sown in timothy from which a crop of hay will be cut next summer.

GERMAN COMMISSIONER.
Prof. E. G. Payne, formerly principal of the High school, has been appointed educational commissioner to Germany by Governor Beckham. The purpose of the appointment is to have the professor study the methods of teaching in the German schools and report back to the state superintendent of Kentucky. The place carries with it a small salary.

Harvester Company Gully.

Topeka, Kas., Dec. 7.—After an hour's deliberation the jury in the case of the state against the International Harvester company today reached a verdict against the company on forty-two counts. The verdict charges the company with being a trust and with entering into an unlawful combination to control the price of harvesting machinery. The original suit was on seventy-five counts. Attorneys for the company filed a motion for a new trial. The maximum penalty which may be imposed is $1,000 on each count.

TO EUROPE

FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF ILLINOIS CENTRAL EXTENDS.

Fish and Harriman Interests Busy Over There Getting Their Proxies.

New York, Dec. 7.—Echoes of the war which is being waged in Europe over the control of the Illinois Central railroad between Stuyvesant Fish and the Harriman interests are beginning to reach America, and they show that the campaign is being waged with even more ferocity in England than it was here. Mr. Fish's representatives are laying great stress on the point that the alliance between the Illinois Central and the Union Pacific is of more value to the latter than to the former. In reply to this,

Cornelius Vanderbilt, a director of the Illinois Central, but not connected with the Union Pacific, has issued a statement which is being used by the Harriman interests as an argument with the English stockholders whose proxies Mr. Fish is seeking. Mr. Vanderbilt states that the alliance with the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific are of the utmost value to the Illinois Central, and that if Mr. Fish is successful in obtaining control of the road his attitude will make it impossible for those roads to continue their relations with the Illinois Central.

Wentley Farmer Dead. Fulton, Ky., Dec. 7.—After a struggle of many months' duration, O. B. Vincent, a prominent and wealthy farmer, residing five miles east of Fulton, answered the death summons. Death was due to dropsy. Mr. Vincent was seventy years old and an old Confederate veteran. He is survived by a wife and three children.

ACCUSED IRISHMEN GO FREE.

Efforts of the Government to Convict "Cattle Drivers" Fails.

Dublin, Dec. 7.—The jury before which James P. Farrell, Irish nationalist member for North Longford, and forty other men were being tried on charges of taking part in an unlawful assembly, has disagreed. This has been the result of all but one of the many trials held during the past fortnight throughout Ireland of men charged with cattle driving and inciting to riot in spite of the fact that the presiding judge had pointed out that according to the evidence the men clearly were guilty. It is openly understood that Mr. Farrell organized several cattle drives and encouraged the movement.

PERMANENT SITE

PURCHASED BY STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

Secretary Robert Hughes Resigns and State Senator McKimman Will Fill Out Term.

Louisville, Dec. 7.—The Kentucky state board of agriculture yesterday selected what is known as the permanent site of the Kentucky state fair. For this site $60,000 is paid, leaving a balance of $117,500 with which to improve the property and erect the buildings for housing the exhibits. The resignation of Robert Hughes as secretary of the Kentucky state fair was received and accepted. The resignation is to take effect January 10. Without delay the board unanimously elected J. W. Newman, of Versailles, secretary to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Hughes. Mr. Newman is a state senator and during the last election made the race for commissioner of agriculture on the Democratic ticket.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Half preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. W. B. McPherson, Special Agent.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM HERE

A Mixture Which Makes the Kidneys Filter Out Poisons and Waste

BE SURE TO TRY IT ANYWAY

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or of health in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy. If the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigorous one must have good clean blood and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver which causes, together with bladder and urinary difficulties and other sympathetic troubles.

Here is a simple home remedy and the Recipe for making it up is as follows:
Final Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kagon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost. Here the readers of this paper have a simple yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indifferent feeling with strength, vigor and health.

Is Too Much Money Harmful to American Women?

"When our foreign critics speak of the American woman they have in mind the wives and daughters of unwisely chivalrous men, who have blindly allowed their women folk to pursue ignorant and half-baked ideals of emancipation."

"Almost without exception, her attempts at a career have been futile, and often they have been notably, even pathetically, ridiculous."

"Lacking all vital contact with life, ignorant of all the deeper wells of human impulse, her mind and her very good looks are as superficial and as trivial as her activities."

Pre-Inventory Clearance Sale Now On

A Glorious Opportunity

RIGHT now with the holiday season so close on us, we are going to have our Annual Clearance Sale December 9 to January 1st, instead of waiting until the first of January, as usual, to start same. This should please you, for naturally you are looking for the place where your money will buy the most, especially right at Xmas time, and doubly so this year when money seems to be playing hide and seek; however all money will be good for this sale—bank checks, personal checks, silver, currency—any kind of money—but to get these greatly reduced prices all purchases must be paid for at time purchase is made. We inaugurate this sale now because each year, the day after Xmas, we begin taking inventory, and we want to cut our immense stocks down just as much as possible before inventory and we feel that we can better accomplish this end now than later.

What does this sale mean to you? It offers to you a field of choosing your Xmas presents entirely different from anything ever put forward before. You are enabled to give things for Xmas that before you have not considered. You would like to have given them, but then they were a little more than you wanted to spend. Now these useful things are brought within the sphere of your Xmas purse, and your Xmas can be made doubly merry, for in the giving of these useful articles you have the assurance of the receiver being merry, not only on Xmas day, but days after. Another advantage, not mentioned, yet quite as important an item, is the saving to you on those things which you need for yourself—it enables you to look to your own pleasure and comfort, when ordinarily you are looking to others. This sale will start Monday, Dec. 9, last until Jan. 1st. All purchases made at reduced price are to be cash. Read each item herein given, for they are all of great importance to you. Make this Xmas a sensible one; give those things that are useful and necessary. No one can have too many useful articles, and this is the opportunity you should seize to make yourself and friends a merry Xmas.
